DPD Reserve Officer Arrested

Dallas Police Reserve Officer Brad Hellums, #R210, was arrested early this morning after an incident at 1909 Greenville Ave. He has been charged with public intoxication, two counts of tampering with a consumer product and possession of a controlled substance (cocaine). This arrest was documented on service numbers 268708-W and 268775-W.

Reserve Officer Hellums is currently assigned to the South Central Division. He has had his badge, credentials and weapon taken pending a final decision by the City Attorneys Office. Because he is not a paid city employee, he is not entitled to protection under Civil Service rules regarding disciplinary action. Reserve Officer Hellums has worked as a reserve officer for six years.
