DALLAS POLICE DEPARTMENT

Take Me HOME PROGRAM

“HELPING OFFICERS HELP YOUR LOVED ONES
GET HOME SAFELY”

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

“Take Me Home” is a voluntary, confidential database designed to help Dallas Police officers safely assist individuals who may have difficulty communicating during emergencies, including those living with:

- Autism
- Alzheimer’s
- Cognitive Challenges
- Communication Challenges
- Dementia
- Developmental Challenges
- Intellectual Challenges
- Traumatic Brain Injuries

OUR GOAL IS SIMPLE:

“Help your loved one return home safely.”

HOW DOES IT WORK?

When an officer encounters someone who appears lost, confused or unable to identify themselves, they can quickly search the “Take Me Home” database to locate that individual's profile. This allows officers to:

Identify the person faster

Contract caregivers or family members

Understand communication needs and sensitivities

Respond with calm, patience, and compassionate care

By providing officers with accurate, up-to-date information, the “Take Me Home” program helps ensure your loved one is returned home safely and with dignity.

HOW TO SIGN UP

Families and caregivers can enroll a loved one by emailing the “Take Me Home” program with the following information:

- A recent photo
- Emergency contact information
- Communication needs or preferences
- Known triggers or calming techniques
- Behavioral notes or safety considerations
- Medical details that may assist first responders

Send your information to:

✉ takemehome@dallas.gov

Once received and approved your loved one's profile is added to the confidential “Take Me Home” database. This information is stored securely and accessed only by first responders during an emergency.

Your participation helps officers respond with understanding and ensures your loved ones receives the support they need when it matters most.
