Dallas Police Department to Open New Community Outreach Center at Southwest Center Mall

Today, Tuesday, April 26, 2016, at 2 p.m., the Dallas Police Department will celebrate the opening of the new Dallas Police Department Camp Wisdom Outreach Center. The ribbon-cutting ceremony will take place at Southwest Center Mall, 3662 Camp Wisdom Road, near the inside entrance of Sears on the northeast side of the mall.

Dallas Chief of Police David O. Brown, Deputy Chief Albert Martinez, Deputy Chief Christina Smith, and Southwest Center Mall owner Peter Brodsky will be present for the ribbon cutting.

“The Community Outreach Center at Southwest Center Mall will allow our officers to build on the relationships we have already established in the area,” said Dallas Chief of Police David O. Brown. “This type of partnership is a vital part of our community policing efforts,” Brown said.

The Camp Wisdom Outreach Center will serve as an information center for the public and a supplemental office for officers from the Southwest and South Central Patrol Divisions.
